RATTI IS ELEVATED TO PAPACY

TO BE KNOWN PIUS XI

Decision Reached Early Today Is Announced by Smoke

ROME, Feb. 6.—Cardinal Ratti was today elected Pope on the seventh ballot of the sacred college.

He will assume the name of Pope Pius XI.

The smoke signal from the Vatican this morning was white and shortly afterwards it was announced that Achilleo Cardinal Ratti, an Italian, had been elected to succeed Benedict XV.

Ratti was born at Milan in 1857. He was successively prefect of the Ambrosian library and of the Vatican library in 1914.

Ratti was created bishop of Lepanto in 1919. He was consecrated at Warsaw. On April 1, 1921, he was made bishop of Adana and on June 13, 1921, was created a cardinal by Pope Benedict XV.

According to the Catholic directory, Ratti's position previous to the death of Pope Benedict was representative of the Vatican in Poland, residing in Warsaw.

Ratti was one of the newest of the cardinals.

Cardinal Ratti by his election today becomes the 261st Pope since the time of St. Peter. As Pope Pius XI, he is expected to continue the policy of reconcillation with the Italian government, for he was a member of the Gasparri party which stood for a rapprochment between the Quirinal and the Vatican.

Ratti was papal nuncio to Poland and recently was made archbishop of Milan.

Cardinal Ratti is in his 65th year. Although he is an Italian, he is better known in Poland.

When the scrutiny of the ballots within the secret conclave in the Sistine chapel this morning showed that the necessary majority of two-thirds had been received by Cardinal Ratti, the secretary of the conclave, the masters of ceremony

LOCAL OFFICERS CAPTURE LOAD OF VERY WET GOODS

Trail Two Men in Automobile and Get Six Barrels

Trailing two men in an automobile from Los Angeles and then with the assistance of Patrolman Louis Nunn of the Glendale police department placing them under arrest for transporting liquor is the deed performed by Revenue Officer H. S. Wesley, who, by the way, lives in Glendale, on Sunday night. The men arrested were Italians and gave their names as Giuseppe Cascalitti and Frank Selvarezza. When they were arrested they had loaded in a machine and in their possession more than a quart of wine in two bottles and one barrel of the same liquor which they were moving from Los Angeles to Burbank, according to their story to the police. Officers later uncovered six more barrels that the two had cached.

According to Revenue Officer Wesley, he had trailed the two men from an address in Los Angeles to Glendale. He knew that they had a machine load of liquor but did not want to make the arrest alone on the dark road between Glendale and Los Angeles. When the two cars drove through Glendale he found Patrolman Uunn at the intersection of San Fernando road and Brand boulevard. The two officers arrested the Italians and they are being held in fire house No. 2 for the government officers, who will call for them today.

C. W. CLARK OF GLENDALE INJURED

LILLIAN SHAW MARRIES

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 6.—After completing her afternoon performance on the Orpheum program here Sunday, in which act she warns "the girl" to beware of matrimony, Miss Lillian Shaw, character comedienne, was united in matrimony with Jack Goldstein, San Francisco clothier. The ceremony was performed by Rabbi Michael Freid.

Traffic in Revolvers In Dealing In Death Says Foley

It is bing, blackness and you are snuffed out. Somebody's finger twiched and a muzzle spat out lead.

It is thus that James W. Foley in "The Listening Post" this evening makes an argument against the traffic in revolvers.

He says that you have a chance if the man who attacks you does so with a knife or a club or a sawed-off shot-gun or an ax handle, but with a revolver you have no more chance than when you step on a rattler.

Henry James in his column on the editorial page in which he comments on the news says that it is a pity that Wilbur Voliva cannot be suppressed. He says the man is a dangerous nuisance. Mr. James is back at his desk writing better than before he was attacked by a severe cold.

You will find this evening a splendid, thoughtful editorial on "Steps Toward Peace," and dealing with the work of the disarmament conference.

There are other features, editorials, poetry, wise sayings and scientific facts, two hours of mighty good reading, the result of a dozen or more minds.

LUCY STROTHERS ELECTED HEAD OF STUDENT BODY

MISS LUCY STROTHERS

president of the student body at the postponed election of officers held on Friday. The vote was counted and the results sealed until Saturday afternoon when it was announced that Miss Strother was the successful candidate, defeating Dale Wood, the only other contestant by 81 votes. Dorothy Peart, member of the cabinet for the past semester, was re-elected secretary of the student body. Walter Sullivan was elected editor of the Explosion, Paul Holland secretary of assemblies. Stofft was elected secretary of boys' athletics with the highest vote polled during the election. Dorothy Cotton with the second highest vote was named secretary of girls' athletics. Colburn was chosen to be secretary of debating. Fern Peters will head the financial body of the students as secretary.

This election was one of the closest ever registered in the race for the leadership of the student body.

Miss Strother, new president of the student body, is a member of the senior class at the high school and has been active in the life of the school ever since becoming a student there. She has, for the past semester held the post of secretary of assemblies and students say that the student body is indebted to her for the snappiest and most enjoyable assemblies that have been held in the auditorium for many semesters. She has also been active in the work of the class organizations and in the girls' league.

Paul Holland who was elected as secretary of assemblies is admirably equipped for the post, having been Miss Strother's assistant in this work for the past semester. He was also a big factor in the success of the variety show given by the students recently.

Walter Sullivan, who was selected to head the staff of the Explosion, has been assistant editor for the past semester. Little need be said of the capability of Dorothy Peart for filling the post of secretary of the student body as her reelection to this post indicates that her work during the past semester was satisfactory.

POLICE CHASE BOY AUTO THIEVES

Junior automobile bandits are reported as attempting to operate in Glendale. C. H. Hamilton reported to the police department on Saturday night that two boys had attempted to steal an automobile from in front of the St. Mark's church about 11:30 p. m. on Saturday, and that he chased them for several blocks. He said that one of the boys appeared to be about 15 years old and the other about 13. According to Mr. Hamilton, he called to them and they started to run. Mr. Hamilton pursued them for several blocks but could not overtake them.

TELLS TALE HORRIBLE NIGHT

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 6.—Deputies in the sheriff's office at Lookout mountain are investigating the attack upon a girl known only as "Dorothy," following a wild orgy at a cabin in Horseshoe canyon late yesterday. Authorities discovered the cabin to have been hastily abandoned. The girl was taken to the home of friends. It is said she threatened to kill herself if her predicament became known.

Jealousy over attentions Samples is said to have been paying to Mrs. Breedlove is given as the motive for the crime.

DENIES DIVORCE PLANS

NICE, Feb. 6.—Mrs. Raymond T. Baker, wife of the director of the mint, has not come to the Riviera to seek a divorce, she declared emphatically to the United Press today.

Public Sentiment Justified, Governor Endorses Stand

Charged with the responsibility of maintaining the harmonious development of California communities and their individual citizens, Governor Stephens, indorsing the attitude of the Glendale Daily Press, has called for a reopening of the hearing of the P. E. application for advanced rates that now afflict Glendale.

The governor knows, as every public-minded citizen knows, that the P. E. went too far. Much greed is poor business; poor business creates discord and discord means retaliation. Retaliation may bring the remedy—but why go that length when there is a short cut straight at the source of the difficulty?

Says Governor Stephens to the commission, in part:

"A great dissatisfaction exists throughout Southern California as a result of the increased rates allowed by your commission to the Southern California Telephone company and to the Pacific Electric Railway company. Added to this is the consumers' continually recurring experiences of marked inadequacy in the telephone and gas services.

"As soon as these decisions were announced I began to receive vigorous protests against them. I have just spent ten days in Los Angeles, in part to go into this matter, and I am impressed with the profound public resentment against the increased rates for service and the kind of service afforded the people.

"I feel free to call these matters to your attention because you are an independent branch of our state government, over whose decisions and terms of office I have no control, and because these recent telephone and interurban rate increases, affecting hundreds of thousands of people, coming at a time when the public expected rates to fall with the general decline in prices, have resulted in a state of public bewilderment, which I fear, may turn to public distrust of regulation.

"I am deeply concerned over the future of regulation of public utilities in this state, and I feel that you gentlemen upon whose course so largely depends the future of regulation, should examine and re-examine, and then examine again, the allegations, the facts and your decisions, to be sure that you are right and to satisfy the people. And then being absolutely certain you are right, to see to it that the people understand thoroughly and clearly the ground for your action.

"I suggest to you, therefore, in the kindliest spirit and not in criticism, that this whole matter should be reopened, not merely to a re-hearing on the evidence already offered, but that it should be gone into de novo and thrown open to all parties interested and a thorough investigation made from the beginning, and from every angle and possibly with additional experts and assistants, in order that the people may know definitely and assuredly what is right and just. And I suggest that until it is known what is right and just, and until the service is made at least passingly tolerable, the increases should be suspended or revoked, if lawfully it can be done. If revocation is legally barred, then may I not suggest a corresponding monthly rebate to every subscriber until the service rendered warrants an increase.

"And may I not further impress upon you, as strongly as I can, the necessity of using all the great power reposed in the commission to the end that better and more adequate telephone and gas service be given at once to a long suffering, consuming public, exasperated by lack of service, but nevertheless patient and fair-minded."

THIEVES REMOVE ORGAN MOTOR

Power for Music at St. Mark's Is Supplied by Hand

The latest thing in thefts has just been reported to the police department. Saturday afternoon John Trotter, 801 Orange Grove avenue reported to the police that some one had stolen the organ motor from the St. Mark's church at the corner of Harvard street and Louise. Entrance had been gained in the rear and the motor detached from the organ and removed.

D. Ripley Jackson, postmaster, who is director of music at the church, was unable to attend services yesterday but frantic telephone calls located him and he was asked if the instrument could be pumped by hand. The vestryman was told that it could be done and music for the Sunday service was provided at the expense of someone's aching back from grinding out the tunes.

CITY ENJOYS HEALTH

According to Dr. J. E. Eckles, city health officer, the general health of the people of Glendale is excellent at present. He said that no new cases of contagious diseases have been reported within the past few days and that those who have been ill with them are progressing rapidly.

He said that the only thing that was troubling the people at present is the prevalence of colds. According to Dr. Eckles there seems to be an epidemic of colds in Glendale at present but a few warm days will do a great work in ridding the city of this epidemic.

STEAL BUFFALO SIGN

Some one in Glendale is evidently planning to operate a cleaning and dye works under the name of the Buffalo Dye Works in another city. Mr. Mitchell, 106 West California, told the police that on Saturday night some one had stolen the sign from the Buffalo dye works of this city and that his son saw two men carrying the sign which is a large 8x5 replica of a buffalo, down East California street about 11 o'clock on the night it was stolen.

BERLIN ISOLATED BY BIG STRIKE

Only a Few Aeroplane Lines Are Moving in Germany

BERLIN, Feb. 6.—Berlin felt the full force of the general strike which grew from the nation-wide railroad strike today. The capital's water supply and lighting system was completely disrupted and every ounce of water that could be found was utilized for drinking purposes.

The general strike which may include motor bus and subway employes today has spread from Berlin to Mecklenberg and parts of Baden. In all parts of the country the general rail strike becomes more paralyzing in its effectiveness. A few airplane lines are running.

The German cabinet and the coalition parties discussed the situation by candle light late last night. Afterwards an official communique was issued stating that the government's attitude had not changed and that it was unyielding. The communique promised that an emergency corps would today start up the city's water and electricity systems.

PLAN TO GET BERGDOLL

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—A way has been found to bring Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, millionaire slacker, back to the United States for punishment, ex-service men in the house declared today. Representative Walter Lineberger of California is now in Europe, working out the plan there while his assistants in the house are busy in Washington. They have finally determined upon a plan which they are confident will land Bergdoll in a United Sttaes prison to serve out the sentence he escaped when he made his sensational dash to freedom from Governor's Island a year ago.

APPLAUDS FIGHT ON P. E. INCREASE FARE RATES

L. F. Janes of Glendale Approves Stand of City Manager

Following on the heels of the announcement that Governor William D. Stephens has ordered the state railroad commission to hold a re-hearing of the recent rate increase, due to the public sentiment expressed against the recent raise in Pacific Electric fares, City Manager W. H. Reeves this morning received a letter from L. F. Janes, official of one of Los Angeles' largest financial institutions and a resident of Glendale, complimenting Mr. Reeves and the city on the determined fight that has been started against the increased rate. He also outlined another point that may prove useful in the fight against the extortionate rates.

Mr. Janes stated in his letter that the fare was in a large part based on the Pacific Electric's estimated value of the right of way through Glendale. He said that in his opinion the corporation had placed an excessive value on the right of way through Glendale in their report to the railroad commission. Mr. Reeves was advised to secure a correct statement of the value of the Pacific Electric right of way through Glendale. This statement can be secured either from the state board of control or from the state board of equalization, these boards having on file correct and exact statements of the value of the right of way of this corporation.

Mr. Janes pointed out that if a discrepancy could be found in the statement made by the railway company to the railroad commission regarding the value of the right of way that it would be one of the strongest points of an already strong argument against the recent increase in transportation between this city and Los Angeles.

Mayor Spencer Robinson received a letter from Max J. Welch, consulting engineer in Los Angeles, regarding the establishing of a high speed roadway connecting the suburban centers with Los Angeles. The latter stated that such a road could be installed and would be a factor in fighting the excessive rates of the Pacific Electric in as much as it would provide a right of way for motor busses traveling between the cities.

The letter stated that a report as to the practicability of such a road had been submitted to C. W. Koiner, city manager of Pasadena, and that a similar report would be submitted to the city of Glendale on request.

The letter was turned over to City Manager W. H. Reeves, who communicated with Mr. Welch, asking for such a report. Letters are being received daily by the city manager from truck drivers and automobile mechanics, asking for positions as drivers on the Glendale bus line when it is started. These applications are being filed and if the tentative plans to establish such a line prove successful, positions will be filled from the files.

ARMS CONFERENCE CLOSED TODAY BY PRESIDENT

Harding Optimistic Over Success of Work of Delegates

CONTINENTAL HALL, WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—Future conferences of nation to carry forward the work begun by the conference on arms limitation were forecast today by President Harding in an address formally bringing the present parley to a close.

"Since this conference has pointed with unanimity to the way of peace today, like conferences in the future, under appropriate conditions and with aims both well conceived and definite, may illumine the highways and byways of human activity," said Harding.

This was generally accepted as Hardin'sg invitation to the nations attending this conference to become partners in a general association of nations for preservation of world peace. His address followed the signing of the treaties by all the nine nations in the conference.

The work begun here will not end with the expiration of the naval holiday, Harding predicted. That holiday will be extended, he said.

"At this conference," he added, "the torches of understanding have been lighted and they ought to glow and encircle the globe."

Five treaties—the memorable products of the Washington conference—were signed today with a sober simplicity, typically American. In the stately D. A. R. hall, beneath the varicolored banners of nine nations represented here, occurred the ceremony which crowned three months of tedious labor—a labor marked with more fruitful results toward peace than centuries of dreaming after such achievements.

It was a stirring scene. A distinguished company, headed by the President of the United States, saw the delegations file to a table in the center of the great hall, attach their signatures carefully and file back to their places around the great horseshoe table, which has witnessed so much making of history the past 12 weeks. President Harding, the ceremony done, addressed the gathering.

The work his invitation had set in motion was at an end.

And his speech was a sort of Godspeed to the delegates, a sort of benediction on a noble work.

The final session of the conference opened soon after 10 o'clock. The treaty signed by the nine powers was the Chinese document and the Chinese "policy" treaty giving China a new deal and a new place in the sun.

"I am happy to announce," he said, "that the treaty between China and Japan relating to Shantung was signed on Saturday."

Following the signing by America, representatives of Belgium stepped to the table and affixed their signatures to the two nine-power treaties of the conference affecting China. The delegation, headed by Baron De Cartier, was given a big ovation. The audience broke into loud applause when Great Britain's delegation, headed by Balfour, stepped to the signing table. Balfour was given another personal ovation. Then followed Lord Lee of the British admiralty, Ambassador Geddes and the representatives of the British dominions. The crowd was deeply interested in Sastri, the Indian delegate, who wore his customary white turban. During the signing the Japanese delegate, Hanihara, beaming his quaint Oriental smile, passed around the hall obtaining autographs of his colleagues.

Balfour signed the treaties twice once for England and the second time for the union of South Africa.

Blinding arc lights were flashed on each delegation while the movie cameras reported for all time the historic scene.

Japan's delegation, headed by Kato, then signed all the treaties. With Kato were Baron Shidehara and Vice Foreign Minister Hanihara.

GRAMMAR SCHOOLS IN GRADUATION

103 Graduates at Commencement in High School

CLASS COLORS GLOW

A delightful local affair was the graduation of the 103 pupils of Glendale grammar schools which took place at the high school Saturday evening, the entire program being given by the students with the exception of the presentation of diplomas by David J. Hibben, president of the board of education.

Red and white were presumably the class colors, for the large "22" which centered the rear wall of the stage was of red adorned with a ribbon of white.

Sweet and girlish were the maids of the class all in uniform white skirts and middies and red ties adorned with "22" in white numbers.

The boys compromised by wearing red flowers in their buttonholes.

Front seats in the middle section had been reserved for the graduates and on the stage with President Hibben and Superintendent Richardson D. White were the boys and girls who debated the question: "Resolved, that the Pacific Electric is justified in making the recent rate increases." This was the main event on the program and when it was announced, Dugald Blue was introduced as chairman and presided during the forensic contest with natural dignity and confidence.

The self possession and ease of all the debaters, but particularly the leaders, Bonnie Jean Lockwood (affirmative) and Barbara Kranz (negative) their clear, unaffected presentation of their arguments both in laying the foundations and marshalling their points, also their clear enunciation and determination to be heard to the uttermost recesses of the auditorium, pleased the audience very much.

The chairman had requested the audience as well as the judges to

Prominent Glendale Clubwoman Seated in the Murder Trial

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 6.—Madalynne Obenchain, with an odd expression about her large gray eyes and with hands tightly clasped, today heard Deputy District Attorney Asa Keyes demand of prospective jurors that she be hanged if they found her guilty of conspiracy with Arthur C. Burch in the murder of John Belton Kennedy. The first twelve names called were: Harry Hammond Beall, Albert H. Wallace, Alfred Bacon of Long Beach, Mrs. Della Berryman of Downey, Mrs. Ida Knapp, Joseph Maw, William H. McGill, Mrs. George R. Murdock, Thomas P. McMahon, Mrs. W. C. Bain, P. R. Kells and Mrs. Sidney Selover.

Wallace, Bacon, Kells, Maw and Mrs. Selover announced views in opposition to capital punishment and were instantly excused.

Substitutes called to replace them were Mabel F. Ocker of Glendale, Mrs. Adelaide Cooney, Mrs. Frank E. Norton, Mrs. John W. Monaha nand Mrs. Elizabeth Seymour.

The Barton Bedtime Stories

WHO THE SEALS ONCE WERE

By JOHN BARTON

(Copyright, 1921, by Associated Newspapers)

"I don't see that," the Widow Squirrel commented on the story Dr. Muskrat was telling. "After those poor little woodchucky creatures were afloat on the Big Flood with no shelter but a twiggy tree top—and they not liking the rain any better than I do—I don't see how it helped one of them to have his tail squashed!"

"Well, you will," the doctor assured her. "Or anyway Ripple will. 'Cause he was the first real beaver." And that made even Chips prick up his little round ears.

They crawled under a branch and it kept some of the rain off them. But they didn't dare go to sleep because every once in a while the tree would hit something and roll over. And they'd have to scramble around for another perch. Sometimes when the tree didn't roll at all they'd hear a splashing beside them. And that was the scariest thing of all, for no matter how they called no one would answer them. There they sat getting thinner and thinner and hungrier and hungrier and littler and littler till they began to think if something didn't happen they'd just shrink up to nothing and blow away in that awful wind.

"A whole lot of fishes were swimming around, glaring their goggly eyes at them."

"For by now the rain had stopped and the wind had begun. It blew till it blew the sky all clean and the sun shone out. Now they could see what was doing the splashing. A whole lot of shiny fishes were swimming around, glaring their goggle eyes at them. That was almost the last gasp. They almost let go and fell in—and if they had those fishes would have made just two gulps of them. But they didn't. Because they couldn't help feeling hopeful in the nice warm sun. And it was lucky they didn't for that was just about the time the seals came."

"Seals?" exclaimed every one.

"Seals," nodded Dr. Muskrat. "The original paddlepaws who told Mother Nature they liked the cold and they liked the wet and they wanted to live in it, right from the First-off Beginning."

"Who were they?" asked Chips.

"They were Bruin Bear's kin. The bears had taken to fishing when things went wrong and Mother Nature had to fix them all up again. The seals said they'd rather promise not to set foot on earth all winter long, while she had her back turned, than go back to eating grass again. Bruin said he'd rather eat it than leave dry land, and so he does, every spring. So she fixed the seals up all different"

HOOK AND SINKER CALL TO SHORE

All Glendale fishermen are advised to get out the old hook, line and sinker and make a hurry trip to San Pedro. They have found a new fish at that port. One meal of this strange fish gives the eater a kick that can be comared to the kick of a mule and will lose nothing in the comparison. At least this is the case if what H. C. Springer told Desk Sergeant James Mann of the police department is true. Springer was arrested for driving his truck into a car driven by Paul Cass, 755 West Doran street. He was taken to the police station and pronounced slightly intoxicated by Dr. Kaemmerling.

Sergeant Mann asked Springer how he got that way and Springer said he was not. Sergeant Mann said Don't kid me, mister. What have you been drinking?" Springer said, "I have been drinking water, tea and eating fish." To prove that he had been eating fish and intended to eat more fish he had a load of the finny things on his truck when he struck Mr. Cass' machine.

The collision occurred at the intersection of Laurel street and Brand boulevard. According to witnesses Mr. Cass held Springer until the arrival of Detective Sergeant Delgardo and Patrolman Kearns. When the officers attempted to search the car driven by Springer he refused to allow the officers to proceed. According to a witness he was lifted into the police car and the search continued. No liquor was found. Springer was cited to appear before Judge F. H. Lowe this morning. The case was continued until February 14, at 10 a. m.

SAN FERNANDO MEETING

Because of the desire of members to attend the opening of the chamber of commerce which occurred on its regular meeting night, members of the San Fernando Boulevard Improvement Association postponed their regular session and will hold a special meeting next Thursday evening at 7:45 in the business headquarters of the president, W. Griffith, at 806 South San Fernando road.

MR. BARRETT'S PARTY BRINGS MANY GUESTS

The reception given at the residence of T. M. Barrett, 364 West Wilson avenue, Saturday, in honor of Mr. Barrett's 80th birthday, was an important social event and largely attended by members of various patriotic organizations, the following societies being represented: N. P. Banks post and Women's Relief corps, Mary Jane Gillette tent Daughters of Veterans, Helen Jean Christy tent Daughters of Veterans, Los Angeles, Columbia circle, ladies of the G. A. R., of Los Angeles, Monitor circle of ladies of the G. A. R. of Pomona, also many old friends and neighbors from a distance.

The local guest list included Rev. and Mrs. W. E. Edmonds, Rev. Louis Tinning, Rev. J. H. Henry, Mr. and Mrs. Blake Franklin, Rev. and Mrs. R. W. Mottern and Seymour Smith.

Each organization sent greetings accompanied by cut flowers, potted plants or mottoes. There were also many individual remembrances.

The Barrett home was beautifully decorated with pine boughs and acacia bloom, the color scheme being yellow and white, with a background of greenery.

Refreshments of cake and punch were served. The birthday cake, fittingly decorated in gold and white, was the handiwork of Mrs. Jennie Phillips.

There was no program but familiar old melodies were played at intervals during the afternoon and evening by Miss Veda Knapp on the violin.

The reception lasted until a late hour in the evening and was an occasion which will always be remembered with great pleasure by the honoree. He was assisted in receiving his friends by his daughter and son-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. Holmes G. Brown of Pomona, and his daughter, Miss Isabel Barrett, who lives with him in this city.

NUPTIALS OF MISS WILLISFORD ANNOUNCED

The main feature of the all-day meeting of Chapter B. A. of the P. E. O., which was entertained Friday at the home of Mrs. Oliver Clark, was the presence of Miss Carol Willisford, who announced her marriage to be celebrated at the home of the bridegroom, Robert Kolts, on Fifth-seventh street, Los Angeles, next Wednesday evening, and who invited all members of the chapter to be present. Miss Willisford is regarded as a daughter of the chapter because of the long membership of her mother now a resident of Houston, Texas.

In view of this happy event the chapter voted to give a B. I. L. party and shower for the young people next Friday night at the home of Mrs. Frank Arnold on East Lomita, when bride and bridegroom will be present.

They are soon to leave for Houston, Tex., where they will be guests of Rev. and Mrs. E. H. Willisford.

Mrs. Kate Williams and Mrs. Elizabeth Brown were assisting hostesses at the chapter meeting, about twenty members sitting down to the delicious luncheon served at noon.

A book shower for the county hospital constituted the philanthropic work of the day, and the program of the afternoon was in charge of Miss Dorothy Williams. It included an amusing game after which Miss Williams read an interesting article on the excavations at Pompei which have revealed kitchen utensils duplicating almost all that are in use at the present time except the waffle iron.

Guests present were Mrs. Chas. Blanchard of Iowa and Mrs. Albert Pearce.

MISS WILLISFORD TO WED LOCAL MAN

The marriage of Miss Carol Willisford to Robert Freeman Kolts, which will take place at the home of the bridegroom next Wednesday evening, in Los Angeles, will mark the end of an engagement of several years and the culmination of a romance which had its beginning in Glendale high school when both were students there. Mr. Kolts was graduated from the school with the class of 1916.

Miss Willisford is the daughter of Rev. E. H. Willisford, founder of the Glendale Congregational church and its pastor for many years. Mrs. Willisford was president-elect of the Tuesday Afternoon club when she went with Mr. Willisford to Houston, Tex., where the clergyman had accepted a call.

Miss Willisford was graduated from Pomona college and has been teaching in California the past year. Following their marriage the bride and groom will go to Houston, Texas.

A very charming Blue Bird luncheon was given Saturday by Mrs. Melvin Kline, 332 West Burchett street, assisted by Mrs. Harry Welch of Los Angeles. The decorations throughout the house were tiny blue birds, with blue bird place cards, and favor baskets with blue birds on the handles. Covers were laid for 12 guests and a social afternoon was enjoyed. The guests all formerly worked together at the Hall of Records, and included Mrs. Jess Louis, Miss Ora Davis, Mrs. Ellen King, Mrs. Dell Spence, Mrs. Edwin Lucas, Miss Margaret Dean, Miss Emily McPherson, Mrs. Williamson, Miss Billy Etta, Mrs. Beth Wright and the joint hostesses, Mrs. Harry Welch and Mrs. Melvin Kline.

TROPICO LADIES ARE ENTERTAINED

Members of the Ladies' Aid of the Tropico Presbyterian church were entertained by Mrs. W. A. Russell at her home, 336 Mira Loma avenue the latter part of the week, Mrs. Hyer being an assisting hostess. A guessing contest furnished the chief entertainment of the afternoon for which a prize was given, Mrs. Dixon and Mrs. Huse winning it together.

Refreshments of salad, cake and coffee were served. About 30 ladies were present.

MRS CROSS ENTERTAINS BAPTIST GIRLS

Mrs. Catherine B. Cross, 329 Mira Loma, who teaches in the Baptist Sunday school, entertained the girls in her class Saturday afternoon at her home, 329 Mira Loma avenue.

BAPTIST GIRLS DINNER.

A large number of girls of the Glendale Baptist church are planning on attending the mammoth rally and annual dinner of the W. W. G. society which will be held next Monday evening in the First Baptist church of Hollywood. They expect to go over in a body.

Ralphs Grocery Company. Opens A Glendale Store

New Grocery Which Opens Tomorrow at 201 Broadway

The grand opening of the Glendale branch of the Ralphs Grocery company, corner Orange street and Broadway, will take place tomorrow. An excellent orchestra has been engaged to furnish music. This will be "one big time," the glad hand will be in evidence and everything possible will be done by the management to make those who attend feel entirely at home.

The members of this firm are Walter W. Ralphs, Albert George Ralphs and Elmer L. Ralphs. The company operates seven stores in Los Angeles, where more than 600 employes are maintained. It has operated there for the past 46 years. The local branch is the only store operated by this firm outside of Los Angeles.

The Glendale store will be the very last word in arrangement of a store of this character. Along the east side is the bakery department. Everything sold in this department is made by the Ralphs bakery department at 1210 Hobart street, Los Angeles. The firm's aim is to furnish better goods of this character than can be secured elsewhere at prices that are far below the prices charged by others. Bakery goods will be received fresh every day.

In the center of the store at the rear is the meat and poultry department. This department has an American automatic refrigerator 15 by 20 feet in size, refrigeration from which is extended through the display cases, where the fresh meats, poultry, fish, smoked and salted meats are kept.

The west side of the room is taken up by the grocery department. The fruit and vegetable stand is located at the center-front of the store.

There is not a wood counter in the store, all of them being of glass. One of the features is the sanitary bins in which flour, sugar, tea and other goods sold in bulk will be kept. This bin has a combination glass and wood top. All of the woodwork in the store is of birch and mahogany. A feature to be installed is a Bond auto weighing machine, where all goods that may be poured, such as sugar, beans, etc., will be weighed automatically. The size of the storeroom is 50 by 150 feet, and is one of the most attractive in Glendale.

The second floor has been leased by the I. O. O. F. lodge, which has subleased ten offices to physicians and dentists, one to a real estate concern and four as a Christian Science reading room. On this floor the offices are grouped around the main lodge rooms. Each office is strictly modern.

The lodge rooms consist of an Odd Fellows club room, 20 by 32 feet in size. This is a lounging room, where pool tables will be located. There is an ante-room, 12 by 16 feet, and a locker and paraphernalia room, 18 by 28 feet in size. The main lodge room is 48 by 52 feet.

Connecting with the lodge room is a 22 by 38 banquet hall, to which is connected a strikingly modern kitchen, 15 by 30 feet. The kitchen is equipped with modern sink and drainboard, beneath which are cupboards, for dishes, etc., large gas range with hood, and a 6 by 8 foot pantry. The Christian Science reading room occupies four rooms on the east side of the second floor. The cost of this building was $45,000.

At the opening tomorrow 40 clerks will be employed and at the outset three delivery autos will be used.

LEGION NOTES

Word has been received from Colonel C. R. Forbes, director of U. S. Veterans' bureau, that hereafter all beneficiaries of the bureau, who die while undergoing treatment or receiving training provided by the bureau will have burial provided in the national cemeteries, if so desired by those possessing the right to direct the disposal of their body. Where remains are shipped as baggage, transportation of an attendant including necessary and reasonable expenses, both in going to and returning from cemetery, will be allowed. The district manager of the bureau in San Francisco is authorized to make all arrangements.

Ex-service men not beneficiaries of the bureau have been provided for in this report under section 1876, revised statutes as amended by act of congress, approved March 3, 1897, as follows.

"All soldiers, sailors and marines dying in the service of the United States or dying in destitute condition after having been honorably discharged from the service, all who served during the late war, either in regular or volunteer forces, may be buried in any national cemetery free of cost."

GRAMMAR SCHOOL GRADUATE DEBATE

consider the weight of the arguments presented independent of their personal views, and the request was heeded. All were rapid-fire orators, several quite impassioned in their pleas for the justice of their respective sides, and all were followed with the closest attention, every well made point being rewarded with delighted laughter and applause regardless of whether it were for or against rate increases.

The chief arguments of the affirmative as announced by Bonnie Jean Lockwood and amplified by her colleagues, Consuelo Mirano—a bright Japanese maiden—Viola Hall, Ross Russell and Eugene Brecht, were that the Pacific Electris is on the verge of bankruptcy and has been unable to pay the interest on its indebtedness, and would have gone into the hands of a receiver but for the assistance of the Southern Pacific; that it carried the war burden without increasing its rates in Glendale because of the impoverished condition of the country and high prices of every commodity; that the war is over, prices have fallen, and people are better able to meet the increase which the railroad commission has granted as necessary relief.

The negative arguments as laid down by Barbara Kranz and elaborated by her colleagues—Thelma Barker, Robert Bungay, Thelma Turner, and Wendell Beauchamp, were that the increase is not consistent with the supposed mileage basis of rates; that, according to the railroad commission, the road has been operated extravagantly and inefficiently and a premium has been placed on incompetency; that the increase is discriminatory since Watts, which is approximately the same distance from the center of Los Angeles as is Glendale, has had its rate reduced from 13 cents to 10 cents per trip.

The heavy initial investment of the Pacific Electric on which it was entitled to returns, the competition of the jitney busses, the inadequacy of the service, the probability that high fares would drive Glendale residents to the city, and that they were unconstitutional under the provisions relative to long and short haul, were among the arguments pro and con presented with skill and wit which won frequent applause.

The judges—Miss Mona Gardner and Messrs. W. D. Root and Hartley Shaw, were a long time deliberating but finally returned a verdict of two for the affirmative and one for the negative, which was satisfactory and Barbara Kranz promptly congratulated the leader of the affirmative, Bonnie Jean Lockwood.

Meanwhile the diplomas had been distributed following an excellent talk by President Hibben in which he begged each graduate to regard what he was about to receive merely as a certificate which would enable him to go forward into the high school and if pissible to college, arguing that failure to go forward would bring lifelong regret.

The rest of the program was chiefly musical, a march by the Intermediate orchestra directed by Miss Brennaman, chorus by Girls' Glee club, violin solo by Eugene Kille, a girls' quartette with violin obligato by Lavinia Thede and Inez Fitzgerald, and a chorus by girls of the class with orchestral accompaniment.

The exception was the excellent four-minute speech on Glendale, its present advantages and future possibilities, by Evelyn Sullivan, who represented the Cerritos Avenue school.

It was an audience bound together by the common bond of parenthood and the whole family was there including baby and kitten. All seemed as proud of the children who gave the program as if they had been their own. Because of this fraternity the fond fathers and mothers of the debaters were obliged to have a little reception to receive the congratulations of other parents, and the children who had carried off the honors of the evening were also made very happy by the praise of schoolmates, teachers and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Sturges of 310 North Cedar street, accompanied by their daughter, Mrs. Laura Martin and small daughter, motored to Loma Linda where they visited other children and from there to Escondido, where Mrs. Martin lives. They returned to Glendale by way of Montebello.

BARBARA'S

I'M JUST CRAZY over that new market at East Broadway and Adams street—the EAST BROADWAY MEAT MARKET! Today I bought a wonderful shoulder of pork roast for 20 cents the pound that I will serve with sauer kraut (10 cents lb.); and as for breakfast we'll be having liver and bacon—my dear, 25c per lb. for the liver, and 35c for perfectly wonderful fresh Eastern cavon! One of my friends paid 12½ cents a lb. for tempting short-ribs there, and I advised horseradish to serve with them. You see, the East Broadway Market carries a dandy supply of relishes and smoked sausages as well as fresh cheese, milk and butter. And as for their vegetables—well, they are absolutely the best to be had!

BURNT SUGAR SYRUP

Burn one cup graulated sugar over flames until dark brown, then add 1-2 cup boiling water and let boil until it forms a thick syrup. Use one tablespoon of the syrup to your icing.

FISH IS BRAIN FOOD! But then, my dear, we're not vitally interested in brains, after all—it's simply that we all enjoy good fresh fish, well cooked! That's why we are welcoming the news that the RELIABLE MEAT MARKET, 1502 South San Fernando road is carrying a full line of fresh fish every Friday! Mr. Danner will offer halibut, barracuda, sea and rock bass and all other seasonable fish when they may be bought fresh! They also have a dandy line of poultry—including wonderful hens and fryers!

WILL YOU BELIEVE, Mrs. Glendale — that Barbara just loves to shop around through the stores and markets of Glendale? Indeed she does—for it is her joy in life to single out and suggest delectable eatables — dainties to tickle the most fastidious palate your household boasts! Here's an idea—when you set about your Tuesday shopping—just follow Barbara's example—add to your list of calls the markets which she's visited—and you will be delighted at what you find! But come now, in the meantime, let us unpack BARBARA'S BASKET — that we may learn first-hand of the "goodies" which our model Glendale Markets are offering!

MY FAVORITE HAUNT, Lady Mine, when buying really good meat for my family is the GLENDALE MARKET — 632-634 East Broadway! For, you know, Mr. Ingledue simply will not buy any but the very best—absolutely first-class meats! They handle only A-1 steer beef, and, too, prices, when quality is considered are the lowest in town! Another decided advantage about trading with the Glendale Market is that I may just phone and they'll deliver free!

LAST NIGHT I dropped in at the PURITY BAKERY—718 East Broadway, for a cake. We are all so fond of cocoanut that I finally decided on a cocoanut layer cake—and my dear, it was simply heavenly! Mrs. Cress uses one of her own home-made recipes — calling for the very best of ingredients! They bake fresh daily and sell at prices that are really less than one can bake at home! Do drop in next time you are at a loss for a dessert—for I know you will be delighted with their cakes. The Purity Bakery remains open every Sunday!

THIS MORNING, when I dropped in at the VIRGINIA BAKE SHOP, 634 East Broadway, I witnessed a most interesting spectacle—the making of those delicious "snails" for which they are famed! I couldn't commence to tell you of the process—but suffice it to say that they are just chuck full of luscious raisins—baked to a crisp brown and then topped with sugar! 20 cents a dozen is the price I paid for them! You, of course, know about their famous bread and rolls—baked fresh twice daily—9 a. m. and 2 p. m. Yes, and they sell a 24-ounce loaf for 12 cents.

THAT IS A PERFECTLY WONDERFUL custard cream pie from the SANITARY HOME BAKERY of 1102 East Broadway! They bake all of their own breads, cakes, pies and pastries—hence they are simply delicious! The Sanitary Bakery, you know, remains open every Sunday and as they bake fresh in the morning you may be sure that they always have a complete stock! I'm so fond of rolls for Sunday dinner, that it is just a joy to be able to buy them fresh!

Truths in Epigram

It is an unhappy lot which finds no enemies.—Syrus (42-B. C.).

One should never put on one's best trousers to go out in to fight for freedom.—Ibsen (1828-1906).

The happiness of men consists in life. And life is in labor.—Tolstoi (1828-1910).

STEPS TOWARD PEACE

The pessimists, and there are many in the world, declared that nothing would come of the disarmament conference. Indeed, nothing must come of it. For if good things came out of it, then the chief business of the pessimists would be gone. For the chief business of the pessimist is not to construct, but to pessimize, if we may be permitted to coin a term. So the pessimists have gone on pessimizing.

It was not to be expected that the nations concerned would lay down their arms and destroy their navies and render themselves impotent of force over night. There were many suspicions to quiet and many disagreements to settle and many difficulties to overcome. But the opening of the conference was auspicious. Secretary Hughes made a plain, flat and definite proposal with reference to naval limitation. It was the farthest step in advance ever proposed by any nation. And from that auspicious beginning, good things have come.

The naval agreement is completed. It will mean a cessation of the furious strife for naval supremacy which carried to its inevitable end would have meant disaster. Nations cannot expend their billions upon battleships in these times and pay their debts and carry on the burden of government without disaster. A people may be taxed to the limit, but there is a limit. There is a limit beyond which government and industry will not survive. It was the prospect of this limit soon to be reached perhaps that served to make other nations receptive of the Hughes proposal.

So that considerable thing has been achieved. And the agreement between Japan and China with reference to Shantung is another great accomplishment. It may be said that every injustice and wrong done by force or might as between nations carries with it the seeds of future wars. The ravishment of Alsace and Lorraine carried with it the seed of the great war. To detach one of the great provinces from China and put it into the hands of another nation, merely because China was unable to demand and maintain her national rights, meant that sometime the injustice would be righted, at the cost of warfare and bloodshed. Doubtless Japan knew that. Certainly the American and English statesmen saw it. And that has resulted in pressure for the righteous settlement of the injustice as far as that is possible. The Shantung agreement with Japan never should have been made in the first place. Having been made, it offended the sense of righteousness of the thinking world. And having been undone, it is a remarkable and reassuring accomplishment of the disarmament conference.

The provisions with reference to poison gas and submarines are important but secondary. If the causes that lead to war are to a great extent removed, we need have not so much fear how war will be conducted. If there is no war we do not need fear poison gas, because it will not be loosed in time of peace.

The thing is to remove the causes for war. To see that justice is done between the nations. To minimize greed and desire for profits, and to declare that square-dealing is the only policy that will survive, as well between nations as between men. The frank discussions that came out of the conference were refreshing and cleared the atmosphere. And there has been much more than discussion, there has been accomplishment.

The thing of getting around the table is wise. Nations are not so likely to be blinded to the problems that confront other nations. There is not as much misunderstanding as results from conferences by distant cable through many intermediaries. There is no question that may arise in the world that cannot be settled with justice and fair play and without warfare, if the parties to the difficulty meet in the right spirit. America has national rights. So has Japan. So has England and France and so have the other nations. Tolerance, concession, understanding, fairness, a spirit of give and take, will help to settle all matters fairly. The disarmament conference may not have prevented wars between nations for all time. But it has blazed a trail that may lead for a long time among the ways of peace. And it has given us a means of discussing and settling future difficulties.

The pessimists would have defeated all this by declaring from the first that nothing was possible to be done. The person who sees no possibility accomplishes nothing because he does not try.

COUNTING THE DEAD

Throughout the month of January count was kept of the fatalities caused by traffic in Los Angeles and environs. At the end of the month the total was 46. The injured numbered 468.

The briskness with which the record started in with the year indicated that there was to be an average of three deaths daily. Then it was lowered to a probable two. Happily even this comparatively modest guess at the potency of fate was an overestimate. Yet forty-seven deaths in one month, a large percentage of them useless, needless, due alone to carelessness, is a figure to be pondered upon deeply and long. Indeed, the fact that the deaths, probably in nine cases out of ten, could have been avoided by the exercise of reasonable precaution, by commonsense manifested in the most natural fashion, is in itself definite ground for sorrow. Contemplation of the fact makes the future appear barren of promise of reform.

If drivers obeyed the rules of the road, if they heeded signs, if they did not indulge in useless speeding, deaths from automobile would be reduced to the few instances of broken mechanism, and defects suddenly developed in the roadbed.

As for grade-crossing accidents, it is stretching a point to say that such accidents occur. Tragedies, yes, but one driving on a grade-crossing in defiance of signals, visible and audible, or without observing the signals, or the track, is not the victim of accident if killed, but the victim of folly. When one escapes the consequences of such rashness, perhaps the escape properly could be termed accidental.

At the end of the present month there will be another tally. Hope that the dead for February shall be less than for January must be based alone on the fact that February is the shorter month.

PERSONAL LIBERTY

The proposition comes from a dentist, that the sale of candy to children under thirteen be forbidden by law. His belief is that candy causes decay of the teeth. It may be observed that he is willing for the sake of principle, to forego profits.

Noble as may be his intent, his plan gives rise to the expression of desire that more people would learn to attend to their own business.

There is no assurance that pure candy, taken in reasonable quantity, is harmful. When it is white earth flavored with acids, it should not be sold to children of thirteen, or any other age, or to adults. The matter of indulgence is one for home determination. Parents can do all the necessary regulating. They can reduce the supply or cut it off wholly.

If a child is prone to eat candy to an extent interfering with digestion, and necessarily with the general health, it should be put on a rigid diet marked by an absence of all sweets. The authorities are not called upon to interfere, however, the problem being one of the most simple with which parents have to deal.

STRIKES NOT ENDORSED

When the government of Germany found it was facing the likelihood of a great strike, it called out troops at once. Thus it placed the stamp of disapproval on the plan. Germany is not much accustomed to calling out troops now. It does not have many subject to call.

The fact that the authorities did not wait for an actual strike, but acted on the mere prospect of a strike, shows that the industrial situation there is not firmly based. It could not experience the shock of an encounter between capitalist and laborer, and preserve its integrity. It is a delicate structure that needs bracing against hostile winds.

It does not seem, when the matter is viewed from this distance, that the German worker has any right to strike. Apparently the government is favoring him in every possible way. He may not get high wages, but he is sure of work. He is protected against payment of taxes similar to those under which the French and English are groaning, although primarily, it was Germany that caused the taxes. If he is dissatisfied now, he certainly will be put in desperate humor when his government begins to tax him in order to pay its just debts.

There has been much loose talk about the prevailing prosperity of Germany, a large part of such talk being bosh. The prosperity of Germany is an illusive condition now being reached for, and still subject to the chance of being lost by Teutonic blundering such as would counsel a strike just at this time.

THE FUTURE OF STATES

By DR. FRANK CRANE

One is often tempted to inquire what will be the final outcome of nationalisms.

When the Irish insisted that the consent of the governed as the basis for freedom implied the independence of Ireland, Lloyd George replied that such a proposition, while it was the foundation of the British constitution, could not be carried to such an extreme, as it would bring the world back to barbarism.

DR. FRANK CRANE

The same issue occurred in a measure in our civil war, when the south insisted upon its inalienable right to separate from the Union. This right the north successfully resisted.

We cannot carry our ideas on this question to any severely logical conclusion. For while we all believe in independence, we would not tolerate that Rhode Island or Illinois should declare its independence from the United States.

The close of the great war marked the birth of a number of new states and the breaking up of the old empires of Germany and Austria to some extent.

How far will this sort of thing go?

The probability is that the desire for independence will be automatically checked by the advantages of co-operation. While the public opinion of the world is against the formation of any more great empires by military force, and is in favor of the right of the small homogeneous groups of people to govern themselves, at the same time, the advantages of belonging to a large nation are considerable.

A curious incident took place in the Philippine Islands, when the Chief Tulawi told the Wood-Forbes Mission that the people of the island of Jolo wanted to belong to the United States. A great demonstration occurred on this occasion and hundreds of native boats, gaily decorated with American flags, met the Mission steamer. The only banner in the parade escorting the Mission to the meeting, was inscribed, "We wish to become American territory. No independence. We want an American governor for this province."

Hugh Price Hughes, in a memorable address, pointed out that the Fiji Islands were not conquered by Great Britain, but voluntarily sought admission into the empire because of the protection and advantages it would give them.

There is no doubt that Canada, Australia and New Zealand are kept in the British empire, not by force of arms, but because they desire to be members of the great British family.

Perhaps, in time, if we can get rid of armaments and militarism, this natural law of the manifest advantages of co-operation will bring about the true and permanent League of Nations, and that world state which every thinker realizes is so desirable.

THE LISTENING POST

The revolver again.

The spitting little snake and the steel jacketed bullet.

Spang!

It tears its way through muscle and tissue and bone and heart and lung.

We have had here some things before to say about the revolver.

Deadlier than the rattlesnake or the copperhead or the cobra.

It lies in wait in somebody's pocket until the time comes to strike.

Just as any other cowardly thing lies in wait to strike.

And a few years ago somebody invented the automatic.

Which pours out a stream of bullets just by the pressing of a finger.

Death coming out of a tube in a stream.

And the invention was hailed as marvelous.

People were enthusiastic over the perfection of a thing meant solely to deal out death.

For that is all the revolver is for.

It is not an ornament.

It serves no purpose of art or beauty or service.

It is just a little, spiteful, venomous, angry snake with a leaden venom.

And it is remarkable that a civilized people should hail with any enthusiasm whatever an invention that merely made murder easier.

For the sole purpose of the revolver is to kill.

It has no other mission in the world.

Of course, it might kill mad dogs.

But mad dogs could be killed with a shot gun.

And there are not many mad dogs anyway.

So the revolver was designed for the purpose of killing men.

You can't kill game with it.

Unless you c. ce to be close to the quarry.

For few people become skilful in its use.

But anyone is skilful enough to poke the muzzle of a revolver in the stomach or back and pull a trigger.

It takes no brains to do that.

No skill or training or courage.

It takes only cowardice and hatred and venom and ugliness and villainy.

And yet the revolver is "improved" and the sale of them goes on and the harvest of death grows bigger.

The recent assassination of a well-known man in a nearby city is an illustration of the deadly venom of the revolver.

It gives no chance.

Its spits death from the dark.

Out of the pocket and into the hand, the pull of a trigger, and murder!

The traffic in revolvers could be wiped out.

If the state got back of the movement to wipe it out.

The sale of them could be made an act of felony.

The carrying of them could be prevented by law.

And they could be shaken by tens of thousands out of hip pockets and coats.

There they wait to deal death.

To accomplish theft and burglary and hold-ups and all of the crimes of violence.

They are the very teeth of the devil.

Waiting to bite.

And we sit calmly by and look upon their sale as an incident of business.

Or a club or a sawed-off shot gun or an axe handle.

With the revolver you have no more chance than when you step on a rattler.

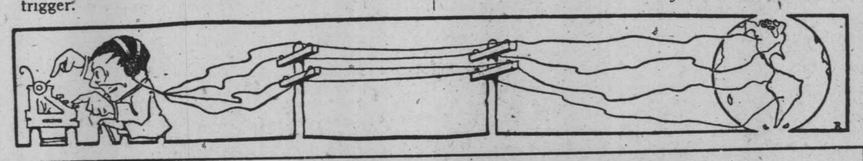
It is just bing!

And blackness.

And you are snuffed out.

Because somebody's finger twitched and a muzzle spat out lead.

JAMES W. FOLEY.



SONGS OF THE POETS

The Trosachs—By William Wordsworth (1770-1850)

There's not a nook within this solemn Pass
But were an apt confessional for one
Taught by his summer spent, his autumn gone,
That Life is but a tale of morning grass
Withered at eve. From scenes of art which chase
That thought away, turn, and with watchful eyes
Feed it 'mid Nature's old felicities,
Rocks, rivers, and smooth lakes more clear than glass
Untouched, unbreathed upon. Thrice happy quest,
If from a golden perch of aspen spray
(October's workmanship to rival May)
The pensive warbler of the ruddy breast
That moral sweeten by a heaven-taught lay,
Lulling the year, with all its cares, to rest!

OBSERVED AT A GLANCE

Congress is so busy running the country that Washington as a city is left to muddle through, and doesn't always get through.

EASTERN POINT OF VIEW

THE IDEAL NEWSPAPER

[Leslie's Weekly]

A newspaper publisher, wishing to please his readers, asked for suggestions.

"How can I make mine the ideal newspaper?" he inquired.

"Cut out the crimes, the murders, the sensational divorce case reports," said the nice people.

"Cut out the accidents, the railway and steamship disasters," said the people who "couldn't bear" to read such things.

"Cut out the politics," said the old-fashioned woman, "I don't understand it, and haven't time for it."

"Cut out the League of Nations and all that heavy stuff," yawned the flappers of both sexes. "What's it all about, anyway?"

"Cut out the so-called funny pictures." said the careful mother. "Such pictures aren't funny, and they're bad, very bad, for children."

"Cut out the ponderous editorials," snapped the man who merely scans the headlines. "Nobody reads 'em nowadays."

"Cut out the woman's page," said the female with the strong mind. "It's mushy, trashy, trivial; an insult to our sex."

"Cut out sports and theaters," said the intellectual. "Both are bad influences, and both have received altogether too much notice."

"Cut out——" began another and still another, but the publisher beat them to it.

"Stop all of you," he cried. "On second thought, I have decided to cut out myself. It is no use trying to publish the ideal newspaper until I come across the ideal reader."

Saying which, he shut up shop and went into the wholesale saxophone business for rest.

JUST BETWEEN OURSELVES

By DELLA STEWART

Much of today's discontent is caused by lack of self-reliance. We feel that so much is to be done to better conditions of living, but we do not feel that we can attempt even a small part of the task. We refuse to believe in our potential greatness.

Discontent alone is deadening. Wordy sympathy is merely sentimental; it may be maudlin. It gets one nowhere, it does sparce good to the recipient. The world needs the help of deeds, deeds backed by strong and positive convictions.

Why some of us dare not voice a positive belief or resolve! We "think" or "feel" or "desire" or "hope." Good, all these in their place, but not as final results of mentality. We quote this authority or that one, but of striving for the standpoint or the firmness of belief or character that brought about such words, we never think.

If we could only realize, you and I, that within us are potent forces as yet unliberated, latent depths of understanding and possibility and accomplishment, and start toward the realization of them, we would find life really well worth living. No wonder that we find it dull when we voluntarily shut ourselves up in such narrow limits, building high walls about our personalities.

Now and then we meet with one who overrates his own possibilities. But that is not so common a fault as is the underrating of life's chances. Courage and self-reliance will win for us where discontent and timidity will dismally fail.

THE SENATE'S JUDGMENT

[New York World]

The United States senate is the judge of the qualifications of its own members, and by the qualifications it sets up for membership must the senate be judged by the American people.

In declaring that Truman H. Newberry of Michigan is entitled to hold his seat the republican majority also declare that the methods by which the seat was gained are "contrary to sound public policy, harmful to the honor and dignity of the senate and dangerous to the perpetuity of a free government."

Wherefore does it follow that in the judgment of the republican majority of the senate of the Sixty-seventh congress a man can perhaps the better qualify himself for a seat in that august body who to gain it adopts methods and pursues a course "contrary to sound public policy, harmful to the honor and dignity of the senate and dangerous to the perpetuity of a free government." Or should we read into the resolution a mental reservation to the effect that senate seats can be for sale to the highest bidder without harm to public policy or the honor and dignity of the senate or to the free government when the republicans of the senate ever need the votes to give them a majority?

COMMENT ON DAY'S NEWS

By HENRY JAMES

It is a pity that Wilbur Voliva cannot be suppressed. Whether the man is crazy, or stupidity his mental habit, or whether he has some design in spreading ignorance, are matters not readily to be determined. Whatever the truth concerning his purpose, the man is a dangerous nuisance.

HENRY JAMES

Among the late teaching of this poor crank is that the sky is a solid vault, and the lights are set within the firmament. The edges of the dome rest on solid ice which surrounds this flat world to keep foolish mariners from tumbling off the edge.

When knowledge began to be plucked from the ether by the awakening human intellect, the first results were not always acceptable. The wise man became a martyr. To save his skin he had to recant. He knew that the earth was round, and that it moved, but he did not dare say so. Yet the knowledge acquired by him became absolute, and was placed within reach of every mind. The mind that rejects it is mischievous, perverted.

There is not the least utility in getting excited about every fool doctrine springing from a muddled mentality. The soapbox enthusiast, shaking a hairy fist at the society he denounces, is not an alarming figure, save perhaps as a possible carrier of cooties. But this Voliva fellow has a regular audience, in most respects, respectable. Probably a Binet test would give them an average mind age of six years. But even the feeble mind should be protected, and there is possibility that it may rise near to normal level.

Perhaps the death of the man Lambertson was the best outcome there could have been to the case. He had been shot as he attempted to wreck a train for purposes of robbery.

Had he survived there would have been a long and fussy trial, and from every parlor or rathole where communists foregather, would have come the sound of lamentation.

Explaining the earthquake is a difficult matter. The recent temblor is ascribed, by some scientists, to a fault. This is a geological term. It means a fracture in strata. Broken by pressure, or by upheaval, the edges of the strata do not meet. It is possible that they overlap. Then in certain conditions they slide about, seeking to adjust themselves to physical laws, principally that of gravitation.

The earthquake around the bay in 1906 was said to be due to such a fault. The disturbance at some unknown spot in the Pacific is declared to be due to an extension of the same fault. Perhaps so. For the present the theory is as good as any other.

No matter what you may think about Nikolai Lenine you must admit that he has a sense of humor. Recently Parley C. Christiansen of Chicago, the Farmer-Labor party's candidate for president, was in Moscow and saw Lenine. "Oh, I know about you," said Lenine. "You and Mr. Cox were the 'also candidates.'"

Another indictment has been returned against "Big Tim" Murphey of Chicago. Not that a little thing like this makes any difference to Tim.

It is possible that by reason of the indictment he may have six years added to his present sentence, but why go to the trouble? He has no intention of serving any part of the time prescribed. They think he's a pretty big politician in Chcago, and politicians there are not subject to court restraint.

Five syndicalists have just been released from San Quentin on parole.

The conjecture is ventured that this course was a mistake, that not one of the five is in any degree penitent, and that all of them are already plotting fresh mischief.

WATCHING THE PARADE

By JOHN PILGRIM

This was one of my hard-luck mornings. Everything went wrong. The spurting dewdad in the bathroom refused to give me a shower, and I sat down inadvertently in a tub filled with absolutely cold water, and and the car wouldn't start, and Mrs. Pilgrim had a date to reduce the servile insurrection in the laundry department. And so I had to go to market for her. But I feel better now. The marketman and I have become fast friends.

"I want," I said to him.

Then an elderly lady pushed past me and said in a voice that admitted of no debate that she wanted a lot of things and wanted 'em now. That marketman wavered. He knew that I was there first but he lacked the moral courage to defend my rights. And when that old harridan had been disposed of he turned to me and I was just unfolding the slip of paper on which my wants had been written down when a firm feminine voice said:

"Let me have——"

It was another one. I don't know where the average woman gets this idea that she has been especially chartered by her Maker to break every rule of courtesy. If the average woman were young and round and pretty—I'm talking hard, cold, common but unpleasant sense now—most of us would be willing to stand back and let her have her way first. But the average woman isn't that sort at all. She just rams in and butts decently polite people out of her way. The only person at all qualified, by reason of bad temper and selfishness and discourtesy, to deal with the average woman gone a-marketing is her twin sister.

When the third woman elbowed in and tried to shoot her stuff over ahead of mine I rebelled. I said to her in as sweet a voice as I could scare up that I had beaten her to it by a short block and that I proposed to have my order filled before she got in her work. And she looked me up and down, and said in a tone the mere memory of which sends feverish flushes over me:

"My word! And he calls himself a MAN!"

Then she sailed away. The marketman said to me, wearily, as he took the order:

"Ain't them old hens the limit? You'd think now they got the vote like men they'd begin to act like men. But they're just as poison mean as ever."

DO YOU KNOW THAT?

The bamboo is usually thought of as a stiff, erect reed, but there are many tropical species of bamboo that are scrambling vines.

SPIRITUAL CURE FOR NERVOUSNESS

Physical Health Follows Liberty of Soul Dr. Funk Says

In the second chapter of Mark, and at the third verse, we read: "And they come unto him, bringing one sick of the palsy." Man is a physical, mental and spiritual being; so when we say that a man is sick or diseased we imply that there is a lack of poise, or lack of ease, mentally, physically or spiritually, said Dr. Funk yesterday at the Lutheran church.

But, in order that we may have physical freedom from disease it is important that we shall also have mental and spiritual liberty. The greatest preacher the world has ever had was also its greatest physician. The patient described in the above quotation was afflicted with a dreadful nervous malady. The doctors had utterly failed to do anything for him; but the Savior cured him, and did it instantly. His fame soon spread throughout the region round about Galilee, and all the city was gathered at the door of Simon and Andrew, where Peter's wife's mother lay sick of a fever. The lame, the halt, the blind, yea all manner of diseases were brought to him; and he never lost a case.

So our friends who make much of the healing power of our holy religion are right. Indeed, if we approach the subject from the spiritual side we shall find that Christ is the source of all healing power. He is the greatest healer of all ages, and much of his time was devoted to helping and healing the sick.

Now we have suffered for centuries by reason of a false education in the great science of the healing art. Poisonous drugs never did and never can cure any disease. They may relieve pain by numbing or paralyzing the nerves, but they do not heal. The body cures itself when it is given an opportunity to do so. We are told that knowledge is power; then let us seek after knowledge. What we need to know is the truth, and the truth will make us free. The Scriptures declare that a little with contentment is great gain; and well may we say that the greatest blessing in the world is a contented mind.

What is the fact? This, that all sense of pleasure, comfort and of peace, exists in the mind. The delightful sensation that comes over you as you are entranced by some sweet melody or thing of beauty; the satisfaction that you find in the completion of some task well done; the pleasure you derive in playing some favorite game is all in the mind, in the nerves that center there.

The fountain for true happiness, for which we long, is within the reach of all of us. Unfortunately man must learn by bitter experience; he must be old enough to die before he begins to learn how to live. Now a man will readily understand that if he would win the victory in some important physical contest he must deny himself. Indeed, for the pleasure of winning the coveted prize he will undergo privations; he will whip himself into form and endure the strictest discipline as to diet and careful living.

But, strange to say, in the game of life our youth cannot be made to comprehend that the same principles obtain. John D. Rockefeller, we are told, in his early years led a life that many young fools today would call miserably dull and monotonous. He was temperate, lived carefully, and saved his money.

We have said that the life-giving springs of joy, of health and happiness, are accessible to all of us. But what are they? Hear me, they are these: high ideals, good works and noble aspirations. Moreover, any hard work, disappointments and self denial that may be met in striving after these things will be more than repaid in a comfortable old age and a life that has been worth while.

"Oh, if it were not for my nerves, I'd be all right," said a woman to me a few days ago. And then she continued to blame her nerves for all her troubles. But the fact is that our nerves are just what we make them, a bane or a blessing to ourselves; for it is the function of the nervous system to register the changes that are generated in the development of the mind and body. "We learn in suffering what we teach in song." Indeed, suffering is often the condition or keynote for great achievements. Homer and Milton were blind; Carlyle was a dyspeptic; Pope was a hunchback and an invalid throughout his whole life; Herbert Spencer's was a case of chronic neurosis; but these men all rose above their misfortunes, and left legacies of culture and refinement that will bless mankind for centuries to come.

Denying its existence does not cure a disease; neither does admitting the fact of its presence prove that disease has the vantage ground, for the pain of an injured nerve is only a danger signal, for our good, warning us to stop or slow down. Pain is our protector. If we had no nerves we could not distinguish between good and bad influences. We would not be aware of an injury neither could we distinguish wholesome food from poisonous substances.

Now the truth is that no one has nerve trouble who has not in some manner, mentally or physically, abused his nervous system. But nervousness simply means that there is something wrong. There is no occasion for becoming unduly alarmed. When a man gets to be grouchy, mean and cranky, it is a sure sign that he is not well. He either has liver trouble or there is something else the matter with him. He needs a physician, for such a person does not know how to get well; some one must tell him.

Yes, but what is the cure? Excuse me, but before we can give the cure we must find the cause.

Town Topics

Nimble Fingers.—The Nimble Finger club will meet Monday night at the home of Mrs. Dora Hall, 126 South Maryland avenue.

Now On Sales Force—Robert Ringstrom, well-known young man who has resided in Glendale for the past seven years, and who has heretofore been employed in the shop department of the Ford agency in Eagle Rock, has been transferred to the sales force and is now scouring the countryside for prospective purchasers of the trusty Lizzie.

Baptist Women.—The regular monthly meeting of the Woman's Union of the First Baptist church will be held in the church next Thursday. There will be White Cross sewing at 10 a. m. Luncheon will be served at 12:30 under the direction of District No. 1. The business session at 2 o'clock will be followed by an interesting entertainment.

Will Prolong Stay—Rev. and Mrs. R. W. Mottern had expected their daughter, Elizabeta, to return the last of the month from New York, where she has been studying under the celebrated teacher, Percival Rector Stephens, but he has protested so vigorously against her leaving until she has completed a year's work and realized the full benefit of what she has already begun that she has altered her plans and will not return until April or the middle of May.

Basketball Practice—The Glendale post, American Legion, will have its first practice game of basketball tonight in the high school gymnasium. The following members are reported as interested in the project: Johnny Dewar, I. A. Crooker, Henry Prussing, Fred Farner, Clarence Edwards, Ralph Goodman, C. G. Gibbs, Sid Simon, C. M. Silanas, L. G. Jones, L. J. Fortier, W. H. Bunker, Chalmers Day and A. G. Whelon.

It is hoped that all these and any others interested in forming a team will be present. As Legion uniforms are not available, men who have uniforms are asked to bring them.

And the cause, with rare exceptions, is due to the bad habits which we ourselves have formed; it is due to our wrong way of living.

Then, what is the cure? Why, you must be converted. Correct the bad habits; cease to be evil, and learn to do well; and the result will be that your diseases will gradually disappear. In conclusion permit me to quote these lines:

"There ain't no use kickin', friend,
If things don't come your way;
It does no good to holler 'round
And grumble night and day.
The thing to do is curb your grief,
Cut out your little whine,
And when they ask you how you are,
Just say, 'I'm feelin' fine!'"

NOTICE INVITING SEALED PROPOSALS

Pursuant to the provisions of the Improvement Act of 1911, and the Resolution No. 1377 of the Council of the City of Glendale, California, adopted the 2nd day of February, 1922, directing this notice, the undersigned invites and will receive at his office in the City Hall up to 7:00 P.M. on Thursday, the 16th day of February, 1922, sealed proposals or bids for the following improvement, to be done according to Plans and Specifications adopted for said work, posted and on file, to-wit:

First: That Elk Avenue between the westerly line of Pacific Avenue and the easterly curb line of San Fernando Road, including all intersections of streets or alleys, except those portions as are already graded to the official line and grade, be graded to the official grade heretofore established therefor, the same to be done in accordance with Map No. 457, Profile No. 736, and Specifications for said work adopted by the Council of the City of Glendale and known as Specifications No. 39.

Second: That all of the roadway of Elk Avenue between curb lines from the westerly line of Pacific Avenue to the easterly curb line of San Fernando Road, including all intersections of streets and alleys, be oiled and surfaced in accordance with Map No. 457, Profile No. 736, and Specifications for said work adopted by the Council of the City of Glendale and known as Specifications No. 39.

Third: That a cement curb of the class designated as "Class B" in the hereinafter referred to Specifications be constructed along each side of the roadway of Elk Avenue from the westerly line of Pacific Avenue to the easterly curb line of San Fernando Road, including all returns of all intersecting streets and alleys, except where said curbs have already been constructed to the official line and grade. Said curbs shall be constructed in accordance with Map No. 457, Profile No. 736, and in accordance with Specifications for said work, adopted by the Council of the City of Glendale and known as Specifications No. 31.

Fourth: That a cement sidewalk of the width of five (5) feet be constructed along each side of Elk Avenue from the westerly line of Pacific Avenue to the easterly curb line of San Fernando Road, except where sidewalk is already constructed to the official line and grade. Said work to be done in accordance with Map No. 457, Profile No. 736, and Specifications for said work adopted by the Council of the City of Glendale and known as Specifications No. 31.

That said contemplated work or improvement in the opinion of said Council is of more than local or ordinary public benefit and will affect and benefit the land and district hereinafter described, and said Council hereby declares that the district in said City of Glendale benefitted by said work or improvement and to be assessed to pay the costs and expenses thereof, comprises the following described lots, pieces and parcels of land, all in the City of Glendale:

Reference is hereby made to Map No. 457-A, approved by the City Council, in which the assessment district referred to is shown within red colored border lines.

The Council of the City of Glendale determines that serial bonds bearing interest at the rate of seven (7) per cent shall be issued to represent assessments of Twenty-five ($25.00) Dollars or over for the cost of said work or improvement; said serial bonds shall extend over a period ending nine (9) years from and after the second day of January next succeeding the date of said bonds, and an even annual proportion of the principal sum thereof shall be payable by coupon on the second day of January, every year after their date, until the whole is paid; and the interest shall be payable by coupon on the second days of January and July, respectively, of each year, at the rate of seven (7) per cent per annum on all sums unpaid, until the whole of said principal and interest is paid. All of the herein proposed work shall be done in pursuance of an Act of the Legislature of the State of California, designated as the "Improvement Act of 1911," approved April 7, 1911, and amendments thereto.

Reference is hereby made to Resolution of Intention No. 1337 for further particulars of said work.

Bidders must file with each proposal or bid a check payable to the City of Glendale, certified by a responsible bank, for an amount which shall not be less than ten (10) per cent of the aggregate of the proposal, or a bond for said amount and so payable, signed by the bidder and two sureties, who shall justify before any officer competent to administer oaths, for double the said amount, and over and above all statutory exemptions.

In bidding use blanks which will be furnished by the City Clerk upon application.

Dated this 3rd day of February, 1922.

SECTION 4. That said contemplated work or improvement in the opinion of said Council is of more than local or ordinary public benefit and will affect and benefit the lands and district hereinafter described, and said Council hereby declares that the district in said City of Glendale benefitted by said work or improvement, is all that portion of said City included within the following boundaries, to-wit:

Lots 1 to 36 inclusive of Block 1, Tract No. 4478, as per map recorded in Book 49, Page 46 of Maps, Records of Los Angeles County, California; Lots 2 to 12 inclusive and Lots 75 to 82 inclusive of Tract No. 4592, as per map recorded in Book 49, Page 46 of Maps, Records of aforesaid County; and that portion of the Julio Verdugo 97.20 acre allotment of the Rancho San Rafael, as per Case No. 1621 of the District Court, Records of Los Angeles County, California, within the following described lines, to-wit: Beginning at the northwesterly corner of Verdugo Road and Maple Street; thence westerly along the northerly line of Maple Street to the southeasterly corner of Lot 62, Tract No. 4478, as per map recorded in Book 49, Page 46 of Maps, Records of Los Angeles County, California; thence northerly along the easterly line of said Lot 62 to the northeasterly corner thereof; thence easterly along the southerly lines of Lots 61 and 63 of said Tract No. 4478 to the westerly line of Verdugo Road; thence southerly along the westerly line of Verdugo Road to the point of beginning. Reference is hereby made to Map No. 467-A, approved by the City Council, in which the assessment district referred to is shown within red colored border lines.

SECTION 5. The Council of the City of Glendale determines that serial bonds be issued to represent assessments of Twenty-five ($25.00) Dollars or over for the costs of said work or improvement; said serial bonds shall extend over a period ending nine (9) years from and after the second day of January next succeeding the date of said bonds, and an even annual proportion of the principal sum thereof shall be payable by coupon on the second day of January, every year after their date until the whole is paid; and the interest shall be payable semi-annually by coupon on the second days of January and July respectively of each year, at the rate of seven per cent per annum on all sums unpaid until the whole of said principal and interest is paid.

All of the herein proposed work shall be done in pursuance of an Act of the Legislature of the State of California, designated as the "Improvement Act of 1911," approved April 7, 1911, and the amendments thereto.

SECTION 6. Notice is hereby given that the 23rd day of February, 1922, at the hour of 7:00 o'clock P.M. of said day, at the Council Chamber of the City of Glendale, in the City Hall, situated at the northwest corner of Broadway and Howard Street, in said City, is hereby fixed and designated as the day, hour and place when and where any and all persons having any objections to the proposed work or improvement herein designated may appear before said Council and show cause, if any they have, why said proposed improvement should not be carried out in accordance with the provisions of this Resolution of Intention.

SECTION 7. The City Engineer is directed to make a diagram of the property affected or benefited by the proposed work or improvement as described in this Resolution of Intention and to be assessed to pay the cost and expenses thereof. Such diagram shall show each separate lot, piece or parcel of land, the area in square feet in each of said lots, pieces or parcels of land, the relative location of the same to the work proposed to be done, all within the limits of the assessment district.

SECTION 8. All Maps, Cross-sections, Plans and Profiles referred to in this Resolution are on file in the office of the City Engineer of said City. All Specifications referred to in this Resolution are on file in the office of the City Clerk of said City. Said Maps, Plans, Cross-sections, Profiles and Specifications are hereby referred to for a more particular description of said work and made a part hereof.

SECTION 9. The Glendale Daily Press, a daily newspaper of general circulation, published and circulated in said City of Glendale, is hereby designated as the newspaper in which this Resolution of Intention shall be published in the manner and by the persons required by law.

SECTION 10. The Superintendent of Streets of said City shall cause to be posted conspicuously along the line of said contemplated work or improvement, and along all the open streets within the above described assessment district, notices of the passage of this Resolution of Intention in the manner and form required by law.

SECTION 11. The City Clerk of said City of Glendale is hereby directed to cause this Resolution of Intention to be published by two insertions in the manner required by law in said Glendale Daily Press.

Adopted and approved this 2nd day of February, 1922.

LIMERICK LYRICS CONTEST

Haying a slogan, Glendale is due for a limerick. A limerick is the most ancient method of criticising or praising a place. Some of the most famous wits of England have gained immortality through their limerick. Why is a limerick no one knows.

To encourage the development of limericks in honor of the city the Glendale Daily Press will give a prize of $5 to the writer of the cleverest verse during each month. The judges will be announced later. It is difficult to secure a good judge of limerick verse.

BOY SCOUT TROOP AT EAGLE ROCK

Scout Executive Benner reports that a boy scout troop has been organized in Eagle Rock, the first work of the kind that has been done under the new council which covers Glendale, Eagle Rock and Burbank. F. O. Rentsch will be the scout master and Ray Sanders and Fred Schnoor, assistant scout masters. These two assistants are veteran scouts, having been in the original Eagle Rock troop over four years, when it was under R. L. McNitt as scout master.

The new organization will be known as Troop No. 1, Eagle Rock, and will meet Wednesday evenings at 7 o'clock at the Central school.

Charter members of the troop, number 16 boys, or two patrols. About 30 boys applied for membership but the council had to put them on a waiting list until the new troop could be more fully organized. Scout Master Rentsch reports that formal application for a charter will be made next week, and that the boys will take tenderfoot tests next Wednesday evening.

L. A. RUBBISH CO. TO BIDE HERE

Representatives of the A. A. Rubbish company of Los Angeles were in Glendale Friday in regard to taking over the business of disposing of the rubbish and waste matter of the entire city.

Sanitary Inspector Henry Hollenbeck accompanied the men over the entire district covered by the city garbage wagons and after the trip of inspection the representatives of the rubbish company returned to Los Angeles, after announcing that they would advise the city as to terms, contracts and other matters pertaining to disposing of the garbage of the city on Monday.

The representatives of the company also discussed contracts for the cleaning of city streets and alleys and the disposal of dead animals.

BURGLARIES PREVENTED
One or more burglaries were probably prevented last week by the vigilance of the special police officer who guards the residence streets north of Colorado boulevard, between Royal Drive and Central avenue, and the cooperation of motorcycle Officer Williams, who has haled so many speed offenders to the local court for fining. The special officer discovered a suspicious prowler near the women's club house and took him in hand. Soon afterward Mr. Williams arrested two young men who had left an automobile on Windermere avenue and gave no satisfactory explanation of their movements. Their assertion that they were not acquainted with the first man taken into custody was found to be untrue and they were all taken to the police station in Los Angeles Sunday, on suspicion.

VETERANS' BUREAU IS EN ROUTE TO SERVICE MEN

Fare to Claims Squad Will Be Furnished on Application

"Take the bureau to the man" is the new policy of the U. S. Veterans' Bureau (consolidated bureau of war risk insurance, federal board for vocational education and U. S. public health service). In carrying out this policy, the bureau is sending a traveling clean-up squad through the 12th district (California, Arizona and Nevada), for the purpose of considering claims of all disabled ex-service men and women for compensation, vocational training, medical treatment or insurance. The squad will visit the cities as listed on the enclosed itinerary on the dates shown. This schedule will be strictly adhered to.

Each ex-service person who desires to meet the squad should write at once to U. S. Veterans' Bureau, 883 Market street, San Francisco, stating the reasons for wishing to meet the squad and the detailed facts upon which he bases his claim. If his case warrants it, transportation to the stopping point closest to his home will be forwarded to him without delay.

All loyal and grateful citizens, all civic and patriotic organizations and the ministers of all churches are urged to co-operate to the fullest extent with the U. S. Veterans' Bureau in disseminating this information as far and wide as possible and to seek out and bring before the officials on the date and at the place scheduled, all disabled men and women who are not enjoying the privileges which have been provided for their benefit by the people of a grateful nation.

Miss Marie Howenstein of Gardena was the over-Sunday guest of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Hanson, 711 East Orange Grove avenue.

HOUSE O' DREAMS

I went to seek for Gladness in the palace of a king,
With spacious halls and ivied walls and towers shimmering:
"Whom seek ye?" said a servitor with buttons down before;
"I seek the Lady Gladness—will you show me to her door?"
He shook his head quite gravely as he bade me on my way:
"She's not within the palace walls, nor has she been this day."
"Can you say where to find her?" but again he shook his head:
"We have not seen her hereabout—I cannot say," he said.

Wealth had a noble castle and I went to seek her there,
Where there were lordly trees and velvet turf and flowers fair:
"Now surely I shall find her here," and knocked upon the door,
And asked for Lady Gladness as I had the once before.
Then Pomp and Pride flung wide the door: "What would you now?" said they.
"I seek the Lady Gladness"—but they sent me on my way:
"No Lady Gladness lives here and we do know that full well, Indeed we have not seen her for as long as we can tell."

The weary days I sought her where lived Power, Place and Fame,
And I did ask to see her but the answer was the same.
But once a Fool went dancing and a-piping o'er the green,
And I cried: "The Lady Gladness—tell me where may she be seen?"
Then he piped a lively measure and I followed where he led,
And palaces and castles all behind us as we sped,
While the Fool piped me his measure, and we found her, Ah, so fair!
In a little House-o'-Dreaming, and he left me laughing there.

THIEVES ROB GARAGE.

Thieves broke into the garage at the construction job at 1508 South Glendale avenue, last night and stole about $90 worth of carpenter's tools, according to a report turned in this morning by C. M. Retts, contractor on the job. The tools belonged to I. E. Gibbs and J. MacMillan. The thieves took tool boxes and all.

PAIN GONE! RUB SORE, RHEUMATIC ACHING JOINTS

Stop "dosing" rheumatism. It's pain only. St. Jacobs Oil will stop any pain, and not one rheumatism case in fifty requires internal treatment. Rub soothing, penetrating St. Jacobs Oil right on the tender spot, and by the time you say Jack Robinson—out comes the rheumatic pain and distress. St. Jacobs Oil is a harmless rheumatism liniment which never disappoints, and doesn't burn the skin. It takes pain, soreness and stiffness from aching joints, muscles and bones; stops sciatica, lumbago, backache and neuralgia. Limber up! Get a small trial bottle of old-time, honest St. Jacobs Oil from any drug store, and in a moment you'll be free from pains, aches and stiffness. Don't suffer! Rub rheumatism away.

CARDINAL RATTI IS ELECTED POPE

and the sacristan of the Vatican were admitted to the chapel.

The cardinal deacon, accompanied by the heads of the other orders of cardinals presented themselves to Ratti and asked if he accepted the election. Receiving an affirmative reply, the white smoke signal, to tell the waiting throng outside the Vatican that a successor to Benedict XV had been chosen, was released and the canopies of all the other cardinals seated about the chapel fell to the floor. Only the canopy of Ratti remained upright.

Ratti's election was not a surprise, although he was one of the newest cardinals, having been created in June, 1921, by the late Pope Benedict. The newly elected cardinal was then asked what name he would take as pope and he replied:

"Pius XI." He gave his reasons for the selection, and the priest who was attached to Cardinal Ratti was admitted to the conclave.

The secretary of the conclave and the priest then proceeded with the robing of the newly elected Pope. One of the three white robes which had been prepared for the ceremony was put upon Ratti and the secretary of the conclave knelt and handed to him the white cap which designates him as supreme pontiff.

Thus attired, the new Pope returned to the chapel and ascended the temporary throne which had been prepared overlooking the seats of the cardinals. The first homage was paid to the new Pope by the cardinals in order.

Cardinal Gasparri, who as cardinal camerlengo, and retained temporary papal authority, was then required to approach the throne and give to Pope Pius XI the ring of St. Peter, which will later be turned over to the prefect of ceremonies to have Ratti's name inscribed upon it. The cardinals then returned to their cells to await the formal announcement to the public of the election.

The head of cardinal deacons appeared before the eager throng outside the Vatican, which was crowding forward to receive the first public papal blessing and announced to the thousands swarming in the Piazza Di San Pietro, the fact that a new Pope had been elected. He gave Ratti's name as when the new Pope was a cardinal.

Following this announcement there was further ceremony to be gone through in the Sistine chapel and later, according to custom in one of the chapels of St. Peter's.

The coronation of Pope Pius XI will constitute the last and most magnificient ceremony of all those attending the death of the supreme pontiff and the election of his successor.

The exact date for the coronation, as well as the place where it will be held, will be designated by Pope Pius himself.

The newly elected Pope appeared upon the Vatican balcony and bestowed his benediction upon the troops and the immense throng which had crowded forward. The soldiers presented arms as his holiness appeared and the crowd fell to its knees, many being overcome with emotion.

STARDUST PROVES GREAT SUCCESS

"Stardust" by Fannie Hurst is a great story. It is one that will be remembered as one of the greatest pictures presented in this city. The hundreds of Glendale people who saw its presentation at the T. D. and L. theatre yesterday went away talking about it, acclaiming it, praising it. The story is wonderful; delightfully produced and finely enacted. It reaches down into one's heart and tugs at the strings in a way that makes you cry—and makes you laugh. If you have not seen "Stardust" remember, today is the last day of its showing in Glendale, and go see it.

The comedy, "Free and Easy" turned the house up-side-down with its funny story and amusing pranks. The musical selection, "Vamping Rose" by George Olsene was a big hit.
